

SPIDER-MAN

ONE SHOT

Bloody Love

SPIDER-MAN

Bloody Love

Welcome every spidey-fans !

You're reading on your screen a inedit but unofficial story of the most popular webslinger from New-York !

This adventure wrote and drew for the diffusion on website PG Birganj (<http://www.puissance-gamers.com>) is reading in 36 pages.

An One-shot with a beginning, a middle and an end.

The challenge was to success condensing a simple shortly story but with enough dynamics to read offering a important look to second characters. Yes, Spider-Man appears less than his enemy Michael Morbius, the «living vampire». His first appearance came from 1973 in Amazing Spider-Man #101. The doctor Morbius was never always a villain and had his own comicbook in 90's.

From which side is he gonna be in this adventure ?

Little recontextualization of this story. This adventure doesn't mention official adventures published actually in United-States. Anyone can read and understand this story. But you can consider that this adventure happens before Peter is in couple with Carlie and before he lost (temporaly) his spider-sense.

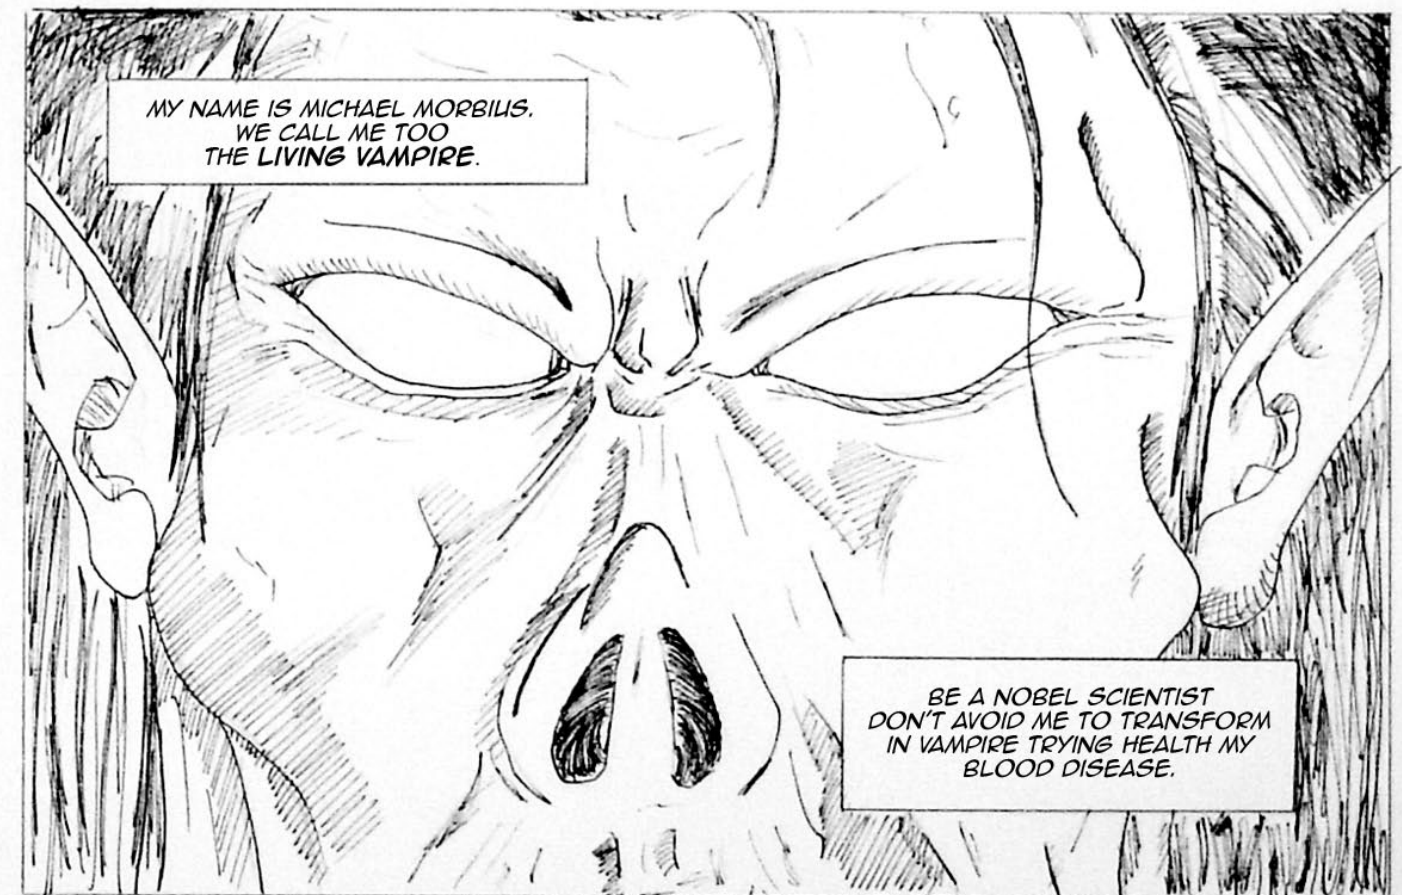

But the story happens after Civil War and the break between Peter and Mary-Jane. In fact, a totally universal Spider-Man.

Technical detail, these boards aren't in colors. They were drawn and inked on 70 x 50 cm formats. Which explains this «grey» looking on screen : delicate numerisation

Hope you'll enjoy !
Good reading !

PS : this story was written originally in french... I hope the translate don't lose any details or special terms or sense of humor.

Spider-Man : Bloody love

This short story of Spider-Man is a 34 pages one-shot with Morbius in guest, one of the older enemy of Spider. He's created by Gil Kane, in 1971, for The Amazing Spider-Man #101. He's got his own comicbook in 90's years, the dark age of comics. Switching between villain and hero, Morbius is in this story written like an independent character. He's doing his own ethical choices. Which he's gonna meet Spider-Man. The webhead takes here less importance. The idea was to condense an interesting story based on the second characters' background. Action scenes are then shorter to captivate the reader about the scenario.

Summary : Mysterious dead bodies "out bleed" are found in New-York. With their own way, Spider-Man and Morbius investigate...
